

Thursda:J 14th Februar:J 1895

Early in the morning we reached Delhi with the first sight of which we were very favorably impressed. We put up at a small bungalow at [+++] in the suburbs of the city. In the afternoon visited the Fort in which were the palaces of the Mogul Emperors [;] the Dewaniam [Dewan-i-Am] is splendid and it was here that the celebrated Peacock Throne was placed. The Jumma Masjid was next visited and driving through the beautiful Chandni Chowk⁴⁰ returned home in the evening.

Frida:J j 5th Februar:J 1895

In the morning visited the museum and at about 12 started for Kutab Minar⁴¹ a distance of 11 miles. On the way we saw the ruins of several beautiful mosques. The Kutab is a gigantic tower 242 feet high with a flight of steps going up to the top. Near it is the Iron Pillar. On our return we visited Humayun's tomb and driving through the fort returned home. Started for Caunpore [Kanpur] by the rail which left at 10.

Saturda:J 16th F ebruar:J 1 895

We reached early in the morning at Caunpore [Kanpur]. Our lodging was not a very comfortable one. After breakfast we started for the Memorial Garden v(there during the mutiny⁴² a large number of English men, women and children were massacred and thrown into a well over which the memorial is erected. This is the only thing worth seeing here. In the evening at 7 left for Lucknow where we put up at the palace of the Maharaja of Ayodhia.

Sunda:J 17th F ebruar:J 1895

We commenced sight seeing in the afternoon with the aid of a guide, Chaltee Manzi!, the Museum, a Library, the portrait gallery where all the Nawabs and Kings of Oudh are represented. The great Imambara with its huge hall were [sic] visited in turn. I must not omit the old residency⁴³ and the [+++] the walls of which bear still spots of shell marks. Driving through the suburbs which extend far and wide returned home.

Monda:J 18th F ebruar:J j 895

Kalliyana Rama Iyer a native of Nagapatam and the chief good's clerk at Lucknow was very serviceable to us. We drove to Dil Kusha Palace in ruins were [sic] Sir H. Havelock⁴⁴ died, to Law Martin College, an old building after European style and through Wingfield park back to Husainabad an extremely beautiful edifice. The palace abounds in beggars who are sometimes very troublesome. The Kaiserbagh was next visited. The Somali River[?] [Gomti River] on which the town stands is small.

